

TINY ACRE FARM

WOODSTOCK
CONNECTICUT

Tiny Acre Farm is a 3/4 acre farm in Woodstock Connecticut that was started in the late winter of 2015 by partners Matt Skobrak and Callah Racine. They specialize in soil-grown micro greens and shoots, salad greens, edible blooms, and cut flowers for chefs and specialty markets across CT, MA, and RI.

Over the years they have blossomed from growing for a small CSA and a few local restaurants in town to now servicing over 50 restaurants, 3 grocers, a flower CSA and a part time farmers market. Tiny Acre Farm takes pride in their growing method of low/no-till, regenerative, intensive farming with no sprays or synthetic fertilizers ever used.

Products Sardilli currently carries are Radish Sprouts, Pea Shoots, Edible Viola Flowers, and Spruce Tips. The Sardilli Family is excited to be working with Tiny Acre Farms.
